

Ngaio Davis

Ngaio is a lover of life and the quiet enjoyment of the world around her (except when it comes to music which she generally likes to play very loudly.)

By trade she is a carpenter, funeral director, embalmer and has an entrepreneurial spirit.

Ngaio has always been keen to be the change that she needs to be to forge her own pathways through life. In 2014 she founded and is currently the principal owner of

KORU Cremation | Burial | Ceremony, an eco-conscious, women-led deathcare business that specializes in natural deathcare practices, green burials and eco-friendly cremation options.

